Description

The NFC A5 Notebook brings traditional note-taking into the digital world. With built-in NFC technology in the front cover of the notebook, a simple tap with a compatible smartphone can instantly connect users to websites, contact details, social profiles, digital business cards or campaign content. Send us your chosen link before delivery and the NFC chip can be programmed at our factory, ready to use from the moment it arrives. It can also be easily programmed or reprogrammed by you at any time, giving you the freedom to update the linked content as campaigns change. Contact us for simple steps on how to program it yourself. With plenty of space for branding, it turns an everyday notebook into an interactive promotional tool that keeps your brand connected long after it’s handed out.
